Enjoy sailing Sydney Harbour

Sydney Harbour is often referred to as the most beautiful natural harbour in the world. Those who come to see it will understand why. The 240 kilometres of shoreline encompass approximately 54 square kilometres of water, which is an enormous expanse of water to explore and discovery.

On a warm sunny day, the harbour is a vibrant blue and dotted with hundreds of sailing boats, cruise boats and ferries. Whether you chose to sail past the iconic Opera house and under the Sydney Harbour Bridge or just drop anchor in one of the many bays. You can be sure it will be a memorable day of sailing

Moorings, anchorages & public berthing

There are numerous amazing places to anchor or berth for the night in both Middle Harbour and Sydney Harbour both to the east and west of the Harbour Bridge. You can also visit one of the many Yacht clubs including, Middle Harbour, Cruising Yacht Club Australia or sail into Darling Harbour or Birkenhead Point.
